

Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA)

HRSA programs provide health care to people who are geographically isolated, and economically or medically vulnerable. This includes programs that deliver health services to people with HIV, pregnant people, mothers and their families, those with low incomes, residents of rural areas, American Indians and Alaska Natives, and those otherwise unable to access high-quality health care. HRSA also supports the training of health professionals, the distribution of health care providers to areas where they are needed most, and improvements in health care delivery.
